Staaken for the last two years left for Perleberg on 8 August. German employees, such as truck drivers, were given the choice of dismissal or continued employment with the units. Land-lords of vacated billets have been informed that they must hold the accommodations for replacement units which are due to arrive. The portion of the Staaken complement which was engaged in a conversion course left six weeks prior to 8 August. The square-tipped aircraft previously reported were still on this field in midaugust.

9. Plauen (K-12): The former military airfield at Plauen has ploughed up in May 1947. All the buildings have been dismantled and the material used for reconstruction in the town. The former barracks have been turned into dwelling houses to accommodate eighty families.
